

2022 Rusty Nail Relay Race

Hosted by

Carter Lake Sailing Club

Carter Lake Recreational Area

Loveland, Colo.

Sunday, July 3, 2022

Carter Lake Sailing Club invites you to participate in the Rusty Nail Team Relay Race. This fun, family-friendly race on Carter Lake is a combination of racing and water fun. Yes, participants are encouraged to douse their competitors as they wait their turn in the relay race.

Participating boats will be assigned to teams by the Race Committee. At the start of the race, each team's lead boat will sail to a mark, round it, head back to the start line and hand a swim noodle to the next boat on his/her team. This pattern continues until each boat on the team has completed the relay.

Boats waiting to relay and those racing are fair game for water wars, so bring powerful water guns that can shoot a long distance and buckets for close douses. No water balloons allowed.

Carter Lake Sailing Club prides itself in its community service of supplying quality, free racing to the general public, and the Rusty Nail Relay Race is one of the most fun races you can participate in.

While the Rusty Nail Relay Race is open to the general public at no cost, only club members are eligible to win the Rusty Nail trophy.
